A tale of courage, loyalty and sacrificial love. Two men, a few gunshots, and the rest is the ocean. Ironclad is a non-linear film based on the experiences of filmmakers Josh and Nick McDowell. Josh co-directed with Nick, while Nick was the lead actor. The film tells the story of two men on a mission to find Nick's best friend, Rusty, who has disappeared for 18 months. The film follows their journey as they try to find him. Along the way they learn life has taught them a lot. Moments before Josh's passing, he gives Nick a slip of paper with an address on it.Josh wants to go to the address, to speak with Rusty, but Nick is afraid of what he will find there. Josh convinces him they will be fine, and drive off to meet Rusty. Josh's last words to his wife, Jennifer, before driving off is "I love you." On the road Josh and Nick are suddenly attacked by a truck. Josh survives but Nick is seriously injured. Josh drives his car off the road and it gets mangled. Two trucks come along and, while Josh waits for help to arrive, he notices the men unloading the truck are dressed in hunting gear. A living car. It was a simple idea that became a legendary concept. Honda's sports car first saw the light of day on a monsoon night at the Tokyo Motor Show in 1982. Eighteen years later, the Celica ST-L special edition was released and it was the car that made people fall in love with the Honda brand. Tadaaki Kato, who was the head of the engineering team of the Celica, shared his insight into the creation of this legendary car on a recent interview at Tokyo's Nakano Circuit."Tadaaki-san, you've been my supervisor for 30 years and have been my mentor," said Honda's Assistant R&D Manager Tomohiro Usui
