A differentiated pattern of defence mechanisms was found in women with chronic depression, including: (1) an adjustment and defend-mechanism; (2) 'Reverse Defense' and (3) an over-compensation mechanism. A combination of the above may offer a more specific explanation for the pathophysiology of chronic depression. The over-compensation mechanism is mainly associated with a 'loss of power' and may be explained by the general breakdown of the emotional and energy systems in the body. The 'Reverse Defense' appears to be due to a hyper-arousal reaction to situations when the patient is under real or perceived stress. This 'Reverse Defense' may induce a state of shock and a withdrawal from the situation. This may occur when the patient cannot cope with the demand from the environment. No clear relationship was found between the defence mechanisms and the clinical severity of depression or anxiety or the patient's age or education. The possible significance of these findings for the treatment of chronic depression is discussed.Q: How to handle null values during insertion in nodejs I am new in nodejs I have a nodejs code which is suppose to insert a new record into mongoDB, it is working fine but when the value of "selected_category" is null then I am getting an error during insertion I am using Mongodb findByIdAndUpdate function here is the code try { const isbnid = req.body.isbnid; const title = req.body.title; const category = req.body.category; const publisher = req.body.publisher; const author = req d0c515b9f4
