Tableau Desktop Professional Edition 2018 2 3 (x64) Serial Key NEW!

trial accounts are not supported for the microsoft o365 subscription versions. this free version is great for teaching your students about business intelligence and analytics (bia), or to try tableau for free. the trial version of tableau desktop is for evaluation purposes and for educational use only. for licensing and support information, including the registration of tableau online accounts, please refer to tableau.com . tableau desktop runs as a service, and uses a huge amount of ram, so a minimum requirement is 4gb ram, and preferably 8gb of physical ram. i would recommend that the installer be placed in a dedicated machine and not even connected to the internet. i also advise having a dedicated internal hard disk drive for installing and testing tableau desktop, as well as having a separate external hard disk drive for backing up the machines tables, and storing the installation files. a graphics card with 128mb of ram is adequate for some basic analysis tasks, however most visualizations are very gpu intensive and will require between 384mb and 1gb of vram. most modern graphics cards have 1gb or more of vram. i recommend a graphics card with at least 2gb, and preferably 3gb of vram. due to the intense and gpu dependent nature of tableau's work, i recommend at least 2 cpus (processors) in the machine. with real world data having multiple hundreds of gb of data, hundreds of tables, and thousands of visuals, the more the merrier. if you have a four core cpu then why not go for two eight core cpus? lastly, the machine you are installing tableau desktop on needs to be connected to the internet, to the it department of your company, to the windows update service, and to your email etc. but that's a given isn't it, because we are working with tableau :) all of your machine's hardware needs to be accessible, because tableau will be using it for a lot of things when your work with tableau. tableau desktop needs to be deployed to multiple machines throughout your company when it is released, and if you don't have any physical access to those machines then some other method needs to be deployed to update those machines.
